My experience

What has shaped my thinking which is:

break

1. - attack on Iran is more than possible, despite its foreseeable dangers/costs, inc. catastrophe and despite unil. ~~selection~~, opposition

2. New threats are being made.

3. New attack is very possible.

Salmon & does

4. Mil. & civ. opponents very least vocal but most will go along reluctantly

(told much later!)

(Jhy should not/sacrifice career, look messier does, now)

5. Jhy will consider resigning - but will if?
with does?

6. An attack will miss important capabilities
(C-II; Prog I;

7. Pres can believe crazy theory about "regime change"
in Iran.

8. Allies approve idea, but will not approve the US.

9. Effects a prolif.

B-52s

10. US opponents afraid to "weak the threat."

11. Need to present forward.

no real option? How about

The problem is not that all the nukes
and nuclear fuels are in the US.

OR that <sup>no</sup> number of NPT return are enough options.

Am I confident that Iran does not have a hidden nuclear (centrifuge?) program in addition to its open, legal dual-use (centrifuge) program

Does Japan?

Taiwan?

Brazil?

Germany?

South Korea?

Italy with SH?

~~UK~~

Iran with ~~SH~~?

~~not~~

We have signed out Iran for cover, with NPT —

(as well for India, Israel, Pak

as proliferators: France,

UK

China

US

We don't assume / proof for Iran that it has no "intentions" to have open or secret program...

Will Iran withdraw from NPT if —
KEEP INSPECTORS IN — PAY THE PRICE (?)

WHILE "WE"
CHANGE POLICY

Do we know that Iran does not have new weapons? (from Ukraine — Mirzayev)

or PO, for a "secret source"? NPT 4-29-06
